A pharmacist walks into his shop to find a man leaning against the wall, barely moving. "What's wrong with that guy?" he asks his assistant.

"Oh, he came in for some cough syrup," the assistant explains. "We were out, so I sold him a bottle of laxatives instead."

"What!" the pharmacist says, horrified. "You can't treat a cough with laxatives!"

"Of course you can," the assistant declares. "Look at him, he's too scared to cough."

A man decides to sail from France to Norway. He starts his journey and everything is going great. That is, until he's passing Germany, when his boat begins taking on water. In a panic, he radios the German Coast Guard. "Help!" he says through the radio.

"Vat is it?" the German Coast Guard replies.

"I'm sinking!" the sailor answers back.

The radio goes silent for a moment before the Coast Guard replies, "Veil? Vat are you sinking about?"

A man came through my lane at the grocery store with a bottle of wine and a bouquet of roses. But before paying, he set the two items down and said, "I'll be right back." He ran off, only to return a minute later with a second bottle of wine and another bouquet of roses.

"Two girlfriends?" I asked. "No," he said. "Just one really angry one."

An elementary school teacher says to her class, "Who can use the word 'Definitely' in a sentence?"

A little girl says, "The sky is definitely blue."

The teacher replies, "Sorry, no, the sky can be gray, orange, pink, and purple."

A little boy says, "Trees are definitely green."

"No, sorry again," the teacher replies, "in autumn, the leaves turn colors like red, yellow, and orange."

A second little boy at the back of class stands up and says, "Mrs. Templeton?"

"What is it, Henry?" the teacher replies cautiously.

"Does a fart have lumps?"

Shocked and appalled, the teacher responds, "Of course not!"

"Okay," says the boy, "then I definitely pooped my pants."
